Dr Lesley Shorne Memorial Scholarship

Dr Lesley Shorne was a truly remarkable woman – a medical practitioner, women’s health pioneer, family woman and philanthropist who worked tirelessly for the cause of women’s health in South Australia.

Honouring the memory of Lesley, the scholarship aims to encourage mature women (25 yrs+) to pursue a career in medicine and serve as an advocate for women’s health and wellbeing.

“This scholarship will encourage bright and compassionate mature women to consider that a career in medicine is possible, despite the many obstacles that may be present.”

Professor Paul Worley
Dean, Flinders School of Medicine

Dr Lesley Shorne 1957 – 2010
Aspire to be a Dr Lesley Shorne Memorial Scholar

You may be eligible if you are:

- Enrolled in the first year of the Doctor of Medicine at Flinders University as a Commonwealth supported student
- Committed to improving women’s wellbeing in areas such as health, education, safety, social justice, poverty or advocacy
- A mature-aged woman (25 yrs+)

“Being awarded the scholarship is a true honour, given how amazing and productive Dr Lesley Shorne was and continues to be in spirit. The scholarship has motivated me to keep going with my studies and inspired me to look toward my future as a doctor and the kind of doctor I’d like to become.”

Genevieve Mount
2013 scholarship recipient

For more information and to apply:
flinders.edu.au/lesleyshorne