Comprising material culture, historic photographs and contemporary works of art – including important works from Flinders University and South Australian Museum Collections – Spinifex Country explores the enduring significance of spinifex to Aboriginal people and their communities while also reflecting ways in which this uniquely Australian grass has taken hold in the imagination of non-indigenous artists.

Public Program

2pm Saturday 12 October 2013
Australian Aboriginal Cultures Gallery (Special Exhibitions)
South Australian Museum
Floortalk with the curators

2pm Saturday 9 November 2013
Flinders University City Gallery
State Library of South Australia
Floortalk with the artists

www.flinders.edu.au/artmuseum/exhibitions