University should be about much more than classes, coursework and exams. You deserve the chance to extend your learning, and develop new networks, skills and expertise that will enable you to succeed in your future career.

At Flinders we are enhancing our courses to offer an educational experience that you will enjoy and that will be valued by future employers. Our new Student Plaza and Hub will open in Semester One in 2016 with state-of-the-art facilities, creating an inspirational space for you to learn, study and socialise. The new development incorporates individual and group study areas, cafés and student kitchens, outdoor performance areas, all embedded with the latest in technology and internet access. Simply put, we are investing in creating the best possible facilities for you at Flinders.

We encourage you to compare the quality of our courses with those offered at other universities and hope that you will recognise the value of undertaking a Flinders University degree.

Professor Colin Stirling
Vice-Chancellor and President
IMMERSE YOURSELF IN SUBJECTS YOU CARE ABOUT
Flinders arts and humanities courses offer a huge range of subjects and great flexibility, enabling you to focus study time on subjects that really matter to you.

NARROW YOUR FOCUS OR CHOOSE A WIDE RANGE OF SUBJECTS
Courses in arts and the humanities give students the opportunity to explore single fields of study in depth or multiple fields of study as they choose.

SOFT SKILLS
Develop soft skills in communication, research and analysis that are highly valued by employers.

LEARN FROM THE EXPERTS
Many Flinders arts and humanities lecturers are nationally and internationally recognised as key researchers in their fields.
WHY WE’RE SA’S FASTEST GROWING UNIVERSITY
Flinders has a world-class reputation for research and innovation, informing the professions that shape our society and developing technologies that are transforming people’s lives. Flinders is ranked among the top 2% of research universities in the world, and the discoveries of our researchers drive what you learn in the classroom.

The $63 million Plaza Redevelopment and Student Hub will provide an extraordinary new facility for students commencing in 2016, with a 2,000 seat outdoor amphitheatre, new social learning spaces where students can gather to study and a range of services tailored to deliver an all-round campus experience for students.

Whether you are relaxing in the leafy surrounds of the Bedford Park campus, immersed in the CBD at the Victoria Square campus or contemplating the future of Australia’s economy at our brand new Tonsley building, Flinders prides itself on offering students a great on-campus experience.

Flinders offers an excellent staff-student ratio — rated as 5 stars by the 2015 Good Universities Guide, reflecting the University’s commitment to teaching. Flinders students frequently comment that they value access to lecturers and the learning environment created on campus. Our academics and teachers are connected to the current issues of the day, guiding you to question, challenge and think beyond the limits of convention, and equipping you with important skills for a successful career.

Flinders has close connections with industry, reflected in the relevance of our curriculum and the connections that a Flinders University experience offers students. Every year some Flinders students choose to do an internship at the US congress, study part of their degree in London or undertake work integrated learning opportunities with employers in Adelaide. Flinders courses are renowned for being rigorous and also work-oriented, providing graduates with a clear set of knowledge and skills that they will be able to use throughout their career.

ARTS AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Arts (BA) at Flinders gives you a chance to immerse yourself in the ideas that shape the world we live in. The BA provides you with the opportunity to investigate and analyse those ideas, communicate your findings and build your knowledge base in a variety of areas. In many instances you will also gain first-hand experience of how to apply what you learn through practical topics, placements and internship opportunities.

Whether you would like to explore a variety of areas, or already have a particular avenue of interest, the BA enables you to develop as a thinker, researcher and communicator. It prepares you to be flexible, literate and independent and it equips you with transferable skills that are highly valued in a wide range of jobs and industries.

There are several excellent reasons to study arts at Flinders:

- FLEXIBILITY
- UNIQUE SUBJECTS
- BREADTH
- STUDY PROGRAM
- MAJORS AND MINORS
- COMBINED DEGREES

STUDY PROGRAM

The BA requires you to complete at least one major sequence (taken across three years of study) and one minor sequence (taken across two years), together with a selection of elective topics. You can choose to use some of your elective topics to complete a second major rather than a minor.

The high achievements program also offers you the opportunity to study a core topic designed specifically to extend the capabilities and knowledge of high achieving students each year. These topics will introduce you to new questions, address broad questions, and investigate the basic assumptions that unite and differentiate the intellectual communities of the humanities and the social sciences.

The BA at Flinders is taught almost entirely by full-time research-oriented staff. More than half of our BA graduates go on to postgraduate study.

MAJORS AND MINORS

More information on the broad range of majors and minors available in the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers at Flinders can be found on pages 8 to 10.

COMBINED DEGREES

You can combine the BA with the following bachelor degrees: behavioural science (psychology); business (non-specialised, business economics, entrepreneurship, human resource management, international business, management, or marketing); commerce (accounting or finance); international tourism; laws and legal practice; laws and legal practice (honours).

The Bachelor of Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers cannot be taken in a combined degree.
EDUCATION DOUBLE DEGREES
The following Bachelor of Education/Bachelor of Arts double degrees are available at Flinders: early childhood; primary R-7; or middle and secondary schooling.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
Arts gives you excellent training in analysis, communication and problem solving, which are highly valued in many organisations. Some potential occupations for graduates include electorate officer, graduate policy officer, intelligence analyst, communications and campaigns assistant, community services officer, and employment consultant. Graduates have recently been employed in a wide range of organisations including the Department for Communities and Social Inclusion, Terra Firma, the Department of Further Education, Employment, Science and Technology, Telstra, ANZ, and the Adelaide Festival Centre.

The arts high achievers program prepares you for leadership roles in your chosen career. For more information on careers services and potential career opportunities go to: flinders.edu.au/careers

FURTHER STUDY
A Bachelor of Arts (Honours) is available in most areas of study and a range of graduate-entry degrees are also available. The Bachelor Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers prepares you for study at honours and research higher degree levels. Opportunities for further study leading to a masters or a PhD are also available.

HIGH ACHIEVERS PROGRAM
CHALLENGES AND REWARDS HIGH ACHIEVERS, ENABLING THEM TO MAXIMISE THEIR INTELLECTUAL GROWTH AND POTENTIAL
PROVIDES YOU WITH AN ACADEMIC MENTOR AND ACCESS TO CORE TOPICS SPECIFICALLY DESIGNED FOR HIGH ACHIEVERS
The Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers at Flinders give you the flexibility to follow your passion. The broad range of majors and minors available from across the University, many of which are not available at any other university in South Australia, enable you to construct a study program that suits your interests.

The areas of study listed below can all be taken as major or minor sequences. Archaeology, Indigenous studies, information technology, international affairs, mathematics, professional studies and sciences are also available as minor sequences only.
APPLIED LINGUISTICS
Applied linguistics is concerned with the practical issues of language, acquisition of second or foreign languages, language teaching, language policy, multilingualism, cross-cultural communication, maintenance of languages, and assessment and treatment of language difficulties. The major provides critical, practical and theoretical knowledge relevant to careers in foreign language education, the teaching of English as a foreign language or second language, and in social communication and the pathology of speech.

AUSTRALIAN STUDIES
Australian studies is a flexible program that addresses issues in contemporary Australia. First year is built around one compulsory topic and a selection of other topics examining Australian identities, cultures and histories. In second and third years you can select from a range of topic options provided by different University departments.

CREATIVE WRITING
Creative writing develops the creative, practical, critical and collaborative skills necessary to pursue a career in the communication, arts and related creative industries. As well as studying literary form and style, you will learn to write in a range of genres and modes, including those making use of new technologies. Graduates who have studied creative writing will have a portfolio of their creative achievements to attract prospective employers in the arts and communication industries.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE
Criminal justice examines the nature of criminality and deviant behaviour. It explores who commits crime and critiques how the criminal justice system responds to crime. It caters for people seeking to work in crime prevention or with victims of crime or the handling of those who have committed criminal acts. With further studies, potential careers can include police officer, social worker, psychologist and policy maker.

DRAMA
Drama at Flinders is the longest established program of its kind in South Australia. It offers a comprehensive grounding in the theories and practice of theatre, with topics ranging from modern and post-modern theatre to television drama and Shakespeare in performance. Performance workshops are offered in movement, voice, improvisation and Stanislavskian techniques.

ENGLISH
English encourages a knowledge of and enthusiasm for literature and fosters the skills of reading and writing. It enables you to acquire an understanding of our literary and linguistic heritage and learn about how it relates to contemporary society. Effective communication is critical in the workplace today and students learn to become adept and flexible writers and readers.

GEography and environmental studies
Geography and environmental studies aims to develop an understanding of the complexity with which humans impact and view the environment on a local, national and global scale; the effect of environmental change on human health; the extent to which environmental changes have taken place, particularly in Australia; and the roles of social institutions, governance, scientific knowledge and community values in environmental management.

HISTORY
History provides an introduction to issues that have shaped and continue to influence the modern world, such as revolution, fascism, migration, the population explosion, warfare and globalisation. You can choose to specialise in a specific area such as European, Australian or international history, or select a range of topics in different areas.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
International relations studies a world divided among different countries. Its elements include diplomacy, foreign policy, military affairs, human rights, international political economy and trade, international organisations like the United Nations, and global issues such as weapons, terrorism and environmental cooperation.

languages (chinese, french, indonesian, italian, modern greek, spanish)
The study of languages at Flinders is multidisciplinary. It assists in developing and improving communication skills as well as enhancing sociocultural understanding of local and international environments. Language studies promote insights into diverse cultural and linguistic practices. The languages offered at Flinders may also be studied in a Diploma in Language. Other university-accredited languages – undertaken through cross-institutional studies, including those offered by the University of Adelaide and the University of South Australia – are available as majors in the Flinders BA.

LEGAL STUDIES
Legal studies equips you with practical skills that are valuable in many occupations. It provides knowledge about law and an understanding of what the law is, why we have law, and what its effects might be. You can develop the legal and analytical skills required in many industries including social work, policing, legal services, research and policy positions.

PHILOSOPHY
Philosophy deals with some of the big questions about the world, society and ourselves. Is there a God? What is knowledge and what do we know? Does mortality and government have any authority over us? Do animals have rights? Philosophy encourages thought and discussion by presenting a range of possible answers.
SOCIOLOGY
Sociology studies the social institutions and processes characteristic of contemporary society. These can relate to health and illness, crime and deviance, the media, popular culture, gender and sexuality, ethnicity and employment. It links the way individuals try to form identities against the backdrop of society and the construction of culture.

VISUAL ARTS
This visual arts major provides an opportunity to develop skills in a range of disciplines such as drawing, printmaking, painting, photography, digital media, sculpture and ceramics. You will work with practising artists to gain theoretical understanding as you develop practical skills in a studio environment. You will emerge from this major with technical, aesthetic and business skills to work as a practising artist in creative professions such as visual arts, craft or related fields.

WOMEN’S STUDIES
Women’s studies addresses the broad question of how gender (social definitions of femininity and masculinity) operates, both in contemporary life and historically, in Australia and in other cultures. Gender, intersecting with other social orders of difference (principally race, class and sexuality) shapes cultural and social institutions as well as personal identity and relationships.

POLITICAL STUDIES
Political studies is the study of public life in Australia and the rest of the world. Its elements include the role of parliament and government, constitutions, political parties and elections, international relations, world events, and debates about ideologies and political philosophy.

PSYCHOLOGY
Psychology is the study of human behaviour and experience. It considers how we learn and develop during our lives, our relationships with other people, individual differences such as personality and self-esteem, thinking processes, the role of biological factors in how we behave, and the causes and treatment of psychological problems. You can also learn about how psychologists gain knowledge through research.

SCREEN AND MEDIA
Screen and media provides you with a chance to study screen-based media such as film, television and computer games from a range of historical and theoretical perspectives. Optional production topics enable you to explore video, film, and digital media production, scriptwriting and web design.
SPECIALISATIONS

Archaeology at Flinders allows you to specialise in a number of fields, including the following key areas:

INDIGENOUS ARCHAEOLOGY

Australia’s first peoples have a fascinating history extending over more than 50,000 years. Indigenous archaeology provides opportunities to understand the lifestyles, traditional practices and communities that existed through examination of spectacular archaeological sites across the country.

MARITIME ARCHAEOLOGY

The exciting field of maritime archaeology sees you studying ships, shipping, and the construction and operation of all types of prehistoric and historic watercraft. It also covers the archaeology of maritime trade and industry, and includes both land-based and underwater sites such as jetties, ports and shipwrecks.

HISTORICAL ARCHAEOLOGY

Historical archaeology studies the relatively recent past since the expansion of European nations into many parts of the New World. Here you will explore Australia’s dynamic and multicultural past formed by over two centuries of settlement by immigrants from around the world.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL SCIENCE

Areas of study in archaeological science include chronometric dating, past diet and health, past climate and ecology, and forensic archaeology. You will apply methods from the sciences to investigate archaeological problems.

CLASSICAL ARCHAEOLOGY

Learn about the traditional civilisations of the Ancient World such as Greece and Rome.

STUDY PROGRAM

The Bachelor of Archaeology not only gives you a solid grounding in the basics of archaeology but allows you to follow a pathway of interest from the University’s areas of specialisation. Throughout the course, you’ll learn core archaeology topics. The first year includes introductory and foundation topics, then as you progress you can choose elective topics from outside the archaeology discipline, including topics taught by other universities. In addition to these topics, you are required to undertake a number of archaeology and non-archaeology electives from a selected list of associated disciplines.

There is also an opportunity to study abroad for a semester in the second or third year.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

Our close relationship with industry provides a variety of volunteer projects for students and structured and assessed placements. As a student, you will have the opportunity to take part in ongoing field and laboratory projects.

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIP

To be eligible for membership of a professional organisation such as the Australian Association of Consulting Archaeologists Inc. you must complete four years of study, usually comprising a three-year undergraduate degree and then either an honours year or a graduate diploma year. Students are eligible to become members of the Australian Archaeological Association, Australasian Institute of Maritime Archaeology and Australasian Society for Historical Archaeology.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Some potential occupations for graduates include archaeological consultant, archaeologist, cultural ranger, assistant curator, heritage consultant, and maritime archaeologist.

Recent graduates have commenced their careers with a range of organisations including BHP Billiton, Archaeological & Heritage Management Solutions; Department of Environment, Water and Natural Resources; Australian National Maritime Museum; Biosis Research; and Port Arthur Historic Site Management Authority.

For more information on careers services and potential career opportunities go to: flinders.edu.au/careers

FURTHER STUDY

A Bachelor of Archaeology (Honours) is available. Other further study options include Graduate Certificate in Cultural Heritage Management, Archaeology or Maritime Archaeology; Graduate Diploma in Archaeology and Heritage Management or Maritime Archaeology; and Master of Archaeology and Heritage Management or Maritime Archaeology.

FIND OUT MORE

PROVIDES A GROUNDING IN A BROAD RANGE OF AREAS OF ARCHAEOLOGICAL INVESTIGATION

INCLUDES THE STUDY OF BOTH TERRESTRIAL AND MARITIME ARCHAEOLOGY

ALLOWS YOU TO STUDY THE ARCHAEOLOGY RELATED TO AUSTRALIA, EUROPE, ASIA AND THE AMERICAS

Studying the things you love becomes quite easy and I loved the field schools, which are unique to Flinders. Archaeology is a discipline where you need to get dirt under your fingernails. Flinders University taught me to never take things at face value and gave me the tools to look outside the box, to think deeper and to research, and to investigate things and dig deeper. In archaeology, that’s how I approach every day.

CREATIVE ARTS

THE CREATIVE ARTS AND MEDIA ENABLE US TO EXPRESS – AND THUS MAKE SENSE OF – HOW WE EXPERIENCE THE WORLD.

THEY ENCOMPASS EVERYTHING FROM COMPUTER GAMES, YOUTUBE VIDEOS AND THE CLOTHES WE WEAR THROUGH TO GREAT LITERATURE, THEATRICAL PLAYS AND FINE ART.
STUDY OF CREATIVE ARTS AND MEDIA NOT ONLY PROVIDES AN UNDERSTANDING OF HOW TO APPRECIATE AND ANALYSE SUCH CULTURAL PRODUCTS, BUT EMPOWERS US TO CREATE THEM FOR OURSELVES BY DEVELOPING AN UNDERSTANDING OF CREATIVE PRACTICE AND THE PRACTICAL SKILLS TO APPLY IT.

CREATIVE ARTS & MEDIA AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Creative Arts at Flinders is a unique course for students who want to fill key creative roles in the theatre, film, television, publishing or digital media industries as writers, researchers, editors, actors, directors, or producers. It is recognised as the leading program of its type in South Australia because it is based on Flinders University’s established strengths in drama, English, screen and media, as well as our commitment to offer innovative yet practical programs with extensive vocational training.

The Bachelor of Creative Arts at Flinders has expanded its offerings in the areas of dance, fashion and visual arts, providing a path in these industries for our future graduates. We know what the arts and communications industries want because we are very much a part of them. The proof of our success is the number of graduates who have made a significant contribution to the arts in Australia and overseas.

The Bachelor of Creative Arts has distinct streams each with its own program of study:

- Creative writing
- Dance
- Digital media
- Drama
- Fashion
- Screen
- Visual arts

A Bachelor of Media Arts is also available for those interested in gaining the skills and knowledge in digital media and screen production to pursue a creative career in the media.

See separate entries for more information on each of these courses.

Whatever your choice, by studying a Bachelor of Creative Arts at Flinders you will combine specialist practical training with the academic rigour expected in the university environment. As well as specialising in your creative area of interest, you will develop generic skills such as independent thinking, critical evaluation and the ability to conduct research that will greatly increase your employment prospects in a very competitive environment.

The Bachelor of Creative Arts is a challenging course but one that rewards those with talent and passion. For some of these streams, we take only a small quota of students every year, and there is always a high demand.

While each stream in the Bachelor of Creative Arts has its own distinct program, the course should be considered a three-year program of creative development and growth rather than three individual years. This enables you to network with other creative artists and develop industry-ready creative work habits and practices. You will have the opportunity for ongoing collaboration with other students at all stages of the degree.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

As well as applying through SATAC, you will be required to do an audition, undertake an interview and/or submit a portfolio as part of the application process for creative writing, dance, digital media, drama and screen streams (fashion and visual arts excluded).

All applicants to the Bachelor of Creative Arts must meet the University’s minimum entry requirements for the course to be considered for admission. For those completing the SACE (or interstate equivalent) the minimum ATAR required to be considered for entry is 60.00. The University also offers a range of other entry pathways. Please contact the Admissions/Prospective Students Office for advice.

Further information, guidelines and the required submission forms can be found by navigating to the Bachelor of Creative Arts on our undergraduate courses page via: flinders.edu.au/courses

As entry to these courses is competitive we also encourage you to apply for the Bachelor of Media Arts, which provides you with the opportunity to study in a production orientated, creative environment, or the Bachelor of Arts (BA), as a number of creative arts areas can be taken within the BA. Some students are able to transfer to the Bachelor of Creative Arts after successfully completing parts of the Bachelor of Media Arts or the BA.

CREATIVE ARTS (CREATIVE WRITING) AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Creative Writing) is designed to develop the creative and professional skills to launch your career in writing and publishing. It enables you to let your creativity shine while being supported and inspired by like-minded peers and teachers. You will write across a range of genres and forms, including poetry, creative nonfiction and scriptwriting, and join an ever growing list of award-winning graduates and quality writers.

Whether you want to be an editor, researcher, freelance writer, publisher, screenwriter or author, the Bachelor of Creative Arts (Creative Writing) helps you develop a range of skills for both new and traditional fields of writing. You will study different forms and genres with plenty of opportunities to write, while learning about targeting your work to particular audience and getting your work published.

You will be taught by successful and, in many cases, award-winning writers across a wide range of genres and forms. You will also experience a broad array of Australian and international writers through the highly talked about Writers and Their Worlds lecture series and connections with organisations and events such as the Adelaide Festival Writers’ Week and the SA Writers Centre.

This degree has fostered the careers of many promising writers, including the recent phenomenal success story, Hannah Kent, whose novel Burial Rites went on to secure an international publishing deal, become a best seller and multi-award winning debut, and has even seen the sale of film rights.

The writing industry is dynamic and evolving, and the variety of writing opportunities is expanding with new forms of publishing, media and technology. In addition to becoming an author, poet or scriptwriter, there are many organisations and companies that value and employ creative writers as copywriters, editors and bloggers. There are even opportunities in the computer games industry and for content writers across a range of digital platforms.

STUDY PROGRAM
This degree will help you explore all genres, such as poetry, fiction, nonfiction, memoir, and screenwriting to find your own niche and establish yourself in the world of writing.

Creativity and experimentation is valued whilst still being taught the fundamentals that will ensure you spread your message via the written word across the world.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE
Throughout the course you will have many opportunities to practise creative writing and hone your skills. With topics focusing on the writing craft, as well as editing and publishing, you will graduate knowing how to build a career around your writing passion. By the end of the degree, you will have a whole host of creative and professional writing skills – as well as a portfolio of writing – and be prepared to do what you love at a professional level.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
Some potential occupations for graduates include freelance writer, publisher, editor, researcher, author, and content writer.

Potential employers include Penguin Australia, Australian Broadcasting Corporation (ABC), Lonely Planet, United Voice, Macmillan Publishers Australia, and the Department of Communications.

For more information on careers services and potential career opportunities go to: flinders.edu.au/careers

FURTHER STUDY
A Bachelor of Creative Arts (Honours) is available in the areas of creative writing, drama and screen and media.

Other further study options include Graduate Diploma in Creative Arts, Master of Creative Arts, Master of Arts and PhD (research).

THIS COURSE...

PROVIDES YOU WITH THE CREATIVE AND PROFESSIONAL WRITING SKILLS TO BEGIN YOUR CAREER IN THE PUBLISHING INDUSTRY AND OTHER FIELDS

ALLOWS YOU TO PRACTISE A WIDE VARIETY OF GENRES AND FORMS INCLUDING POETRY, WRITING FOR CHILDREN, CREATIVE NON-FICTION AND SCRIPTWRITING

HAS AWARD WINNING WRITERS AS GRADUATES
In 2011, Hannah won the inaugural Writing Australia Unpublished Manuscript Award and is now a highly successful novelist. Her first novel, Burial Rites, has been published by Picador in Australia and the UK, and by Little, Brown in North America. It’s also being translated into 15 different languages, with different publishers.

“It’s been a long process but that’s what my Flinders course taught me – the ins and outs of publishing. They let us know the reality of being a writer and found us balance between the creative and the practical. They encouraged us to develop our literary skills while giving us a real advantage in having insider’s knowledge of the publishing industry.”

“In my creative arts degree, a structured course for a creative pursuit worked for me. It gave me discipline. We were taught that you couldn’t just wait around for inspiration to happen.

The breadth of writing was really enjoyable. We had opportunities to create non-fiction, fiction for children, short stories and also other courses – screenwriting and writing for theatre.”

Hannah is also the co-founder and publisher of Australian literary journal Kill Your Darlings.

“I am also editing a national literary journal that I co-created – a project that resulted from connections, support, guidance and hard work from my honours year at Flinders.”

“I’ve found my career in creative writing.”

CREATIVE ARTS (DANCE) AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Dance) is a degree in elite dance performance delivered in partnership with TAFE SA* through Adelaide College of the Arts.

This degree offers an exciting opportunity to train as a professional performer in the contemporary dance industry. You will develop a mix of dance techniques and skills in state-of-the-art dance studios, and a grounding in dance theory and history that supports your professional practice. Students enrol concurrently in TAFE SA’s Advanced Diploma of Dance (Elite Performance) (CUA60113) and Flinders’ Bachelor of Creative Arts (Dance).

There is a strong emphasis on performance, and this unique degree equips you with professional skills in all facets of the dance industry: realistic dance techniques, devised movement practices, dance project realisation, group devising, auto performance, choreography and stage performance. The comprehensive history and theory content provides you with an understanding of how these areas are relevant to your professional practice. The course keeps you up-to-date with areas of increasing importance in the dance industry, including postmodern performance techniques, intercultural performance, and the interface between live performance and multimedia.

Flinders University is the leading provider of creative arts courses in South Australia. This has enabled Flinders to establish strong industry relationships and partnerships. TAFE SA Adelaide College of the Arts is a centre for excellence in the performing arts, and has achieved a reputation for success in placing dancers with major companies in Australia and overseas. The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Dance) draws on the strengths and reputations of both TAFE SA and Flinders to offer a premiere degree and provide rare and exclusive access to these industry connections and networks.

STUDY PROGRAM

You will enrol concurrently in the Advanced Diploma of Dance (Elite Performance) (CUA60113) (TAFE SA) and the Bachelor of Creative Arts (Dance) (Flinders University). Graduate receive a Certificate IV in Dance (CUA40113), the Diploma of Dance (Elite Performance) (CUA50113), the Advanced Diploma of Dance (Elite Performance) (CUA60113) and the Bachelor of Creative Arts (Dance).

Throughout your study, you will train in contemporary and classical dance techniques and engage in various aspects of the dance industry process. You will also learn how to engage with the industry through career-management topics.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

You will receive concentrated, individual attention to help you perfect your technique and train to a high level. There is a strong emphasis on composition and creating, with hours dedicated to creating original and personalised performance. Working with leading, cutting-edge choreographers and trainers from around Australia, you will be prepared to produce public-ready works. You will also participate with dance companies and performance projects as part of a dance vocational secondment and have the opportunity to perform at the Adelaide Fringe Festival.

Training is provided in a state-of-the-art, purpose-built studio with contemporary facilities, located in the city and in close proximity to Adelaide’s arts precinct. Our graduates work as dancers for companies such as Shaun Parker Company (Sydney), Lucy Guerin Inc (Melbourne), Total Brutal (Berlin), the Sydney Dance Company, plus more all over the world.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Some potential occupations for graduates include dancer, cabaret artist, programming coordinator, performing arts tutor, choreographer, and community dance artist. Potential employers include Australian Dance Theatre, Sydney Dance Company, DanceNorth, Leigh Warren + Dancers, Adelaide Festival Centre, and KAGE.

CREATIVE ARTS (DIGITAL MEDIA) AT FLINDERS
The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Digital Media) provides you with the practical skills and academic knowledge to begin your career in the digital media industry. You will have the opportunity to work as part of a creative team while developing skills in all aspects of digital media including film, web design, interactive media, animation and gaming. The course is designed to develop and strengthen your practical skills as well as providing a strong theoretical background in the creative arts and creative practice.

The course explores the connections between technology and the creative arts and the ways in which digital media is used in society and the workplace. It introduces you to all aspects of the industry, helping you to develop your interests and find your ideal role. We teach you 2D and 3D animation and game design, digital artwork, visual effects, graphic design and illustration.

There are multiple opportunities to get your work in front of an audience. Our previous students’ work has been accepted into multiple prestigious festivals and our graduates have been hired by prominent local film organisations, Rising Sun Pictures.

Digital media is a rapidly expanding and prosperous industry with a myriad of jobs and opportunities to express yourself in a number of ways, particularly in the area of entertainment. Almost every other industry takes advantage of digital media in some way and the work of digital media professionals filters into homes and businesses worldwide.

STUDY PROGRAM
Throughout the course, you will learn the basic professional skills for digital media production including the operation of industry level software and hardware, as well as develop the ability to plan, develop and complete a digital media product including production and post-production stages. During your study you will also gain an understanding of the historical, social, cultural, formal and aesthetic aspects of screen and digital media.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE
The course, coupled with projects and workshops, is designed to provide you with the ability to boost both your creative and practical skills, which will be applied in real-world digital media contexts and equip you for work in a variety of creative digital fields. These include the local and international film industry, web design, interactive media, animation and the gaming industry. Career prospects are only limited by your imagination.

There is a strong emphasis on collaboration and working in creative teams, and you are encouraged to explore your creativity and flexibility. The blend of creative and information technology skills developed during the course will prepare you to be a highly employable and sought-after digital media professional.

TAFE SA DUAL OFFERS
Entry via a TAFE SA dual offer pathway is also available for the Bachelor of Creative Arts (Digital Media). Successful applicants will receive an offer to both TAFE SA and Flinders. Progression to Flinders requires successful completion of the TAFE SA qualification. For more information go to: flinders.edu.au/tafe

When I came out of high school, I had no intention of doing an arts degree. However, the subjects in digital media looked really interesting, and covered all these areas on the art and aesthetics side of things. I was learning things that I hadn’t come across before, and also had the opportunity to build new relationships. There was huge diversity in our class, everyone had something unique and different to offer across so many skill sets.

CREATIVE ARTS (DRAMA)
AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Drama) at Flinders aims to develop the creative, practical, critical and collaborative skills you will need to pursue a career in the performing arts. The course offers both an acting and directing program where you will gain practical skills in addition to a diverse program of theoretical study. You will have access to the Flinders Drama Centre’s theatres and studios to develop your practice for both stage and screen.

Flinders University is highly respected for providing “the intelligent alternative” in professional actor and director training in Australia, and graduates are noted for working across various areas of the industry and for initiating skilled dialogue between areas. The course covers all facets of the performing arts, and prepares you with professional, transferrable skills in the performing arts and film industries. You will gain practical skills, develop your practice for both stage and screen and be immersed in a diverse program of theoretical study.

And you will be following in the footsteps of former Flinders graduates including award-winning actors, directors and playwrights such as Scott Hicks, Noni Hazellhurst, Gale Edwards, Benedict Andrews, Caleb Lewis, Cameron Goodall, Geordie Brookman, Melissa Reeves and Xavier Samuel, as well as founding members of theatre companies including Circus Oz, Red Shed, Brink Productions and The Border Project.

STUDY PROGRAM

From method acting (for stage and screen) to movement, the acting program includes voice, singing, physical theatre, intercultural performance, devising theatre, text analysis, and text-based experimental theatre.

The highly regarded directing program includes directing for stage (from script to performance), screen/television directing, dramaturgy and design as well as electives in acting, voice methodology, physical theatre or devising theatre.

You will also select subjects from an appealing and diverse theoretical program.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

The course offers you a wealth of practical experience at the Flinders Drama Centre’s theatres and creative studios. Our facilities include the 425-seat Matthew Flinders Theatre, dance and voice training studios, a three-camera television studio and a “black box” studio, in which you can apply what you learn and prepare for your career in drama.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Some potential occupations for graduates include actor, director, drama production manager, puppet program coordinator, playwright and presenter.

Potential employers include State Theatre Company of South Australia, Bell Shakespeare, Theatre Bugs, Malthouse Theatre, Brink Productions, and Carclew Youth Arts Centre Inc.

After completing a Bachelor of Creative Arts (Drama) at Flinders in 2005 and acting in several Australian films, Xavier Samuel has carved out an international acting career for himself, landing big parts such as the ill-fated vampire, Riley, in The Twilight Saga: Eclipse.

Emeritus Professor Michael Morley is not surprised by Xavier’s success.

“The thing that struck not just me, but all of his teachers, was his combination of intelligence, intellectual curiosity and irreverence,” Professor Morley said. “He was always going to make best use of his talents as an actor: but he was also constantly asking for recommendations for reading, and questioning just about everything I had to say.”

“Our highly successful acting program equips students for the varied demands of the industry,” explains Director of Studies, Dr Anne Thompson. “Xavier’s success reflects a refocusing of the program in 2000 to give television and film performance equal status to live performance.”

XAVIER’S SUCCESS IS TESTAMENT NOT JUST TO HIS ENORMOUS TALENT, BUT TO THE HIGH STANDARD OF TEACHING PROVIDED THROUGH THE FLINDERS DRAMA CENTRE.

CREATIVE ARTS (FASHION) AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Fashion), delivered in partnership with TAFE SA*, prepares you for a career in the fashion industry. It provides practical skills in design, product development, garment construction and patternmaking combined with theoretical knowledge in areas such as academic and professional communication, marketing and the environment. You will also specialise in either small scale or large scale business.

The course provides you with a versatile skill set to begin your professional career in large or small-scale fashion environments locally, interstate or internationally.

The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Fashion) draws on the strengths and status of both TAFE SA – which has an excellent reputation for its fashion courses – and Flinders University – the leading provider of creative arts courses in South Australia – to provide rare and exclusive access to fashion industry connections and networks. Students enrol concurrently in TAFE SA’s Diploma of Applied Fashion Design and Technology (LMT50307) and Flinders University’s Bachelor of Creative Arts (Fashion).

Fashion is more than just clothes design. It is an art form and a glamorous profession with unlimited possibilities. What we wear says something about who we are as people and an understanding of fashion requires an understanding of culture, society, constant transformation of trends and the influence this has on consumer behaviour and vice versa. Fashion includes everything from the textile design of fabrics and production of garments through to the sale and promotion of clothing, and it requires a strong visual sense as well as practical skills in design, construction and business.

STUDY PROGRAM

You will enrol concurrently in the Diploma of Applied Fashion Design and Technology (LMT50307) from TAFE SA and the Bachelor of Creative Arts (Fashion) from Flinders University. The course is designed to introduce you gradually to university study, with the number of university topics increasing as you progress through the degree.

In first year you will undertake a range of introductory practical and theoretical topics with an emphasis on garment construction, patternmaking, drawing, design, academic and professional communication, marketing, and the environment.

In second and third year you will be able to specialise in one of two options.

The small-scale business stream prepares you for custom/bespoke garment construction. It focuses on advanced practical skills and includes advanced design, patternmaking and garment construction, small business topics, and event design/management.

The large-scale business stream prepares you for work with global fashion brands. It includes topics on e-business, intellectual property, digital media, advanced design, and product development.

Both streams include core topics in consumer behaviour and visual thinking and creativity. You will also get to learn about the fascinating connections between art, culture and fashion history.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

The course offers you a wealth of practical experience and the opportunity to explore computer-aided illustration and design, the creative process, textile and business studies, patternmaking and garment construction. You will be guided by expert and talented teaching staff in fully equipped, industry standard workshops, in which you can apply what you learn and prepare for your career in fashion.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Some potential occupations for graduates include fashion designer, creative director, pattern maker, product developer, buyer, production assistant, and trend forecaster.

Potential employers include house-of-brands businesses, small-scale designer labels and self-employment.

For more information on careers services and potential career opportunities go to: flinders.edu.au/careers

FURTHER STUDY

A Bachelor of Creative Arts (Honours) is available in the areas of creative writing, drama and screen and media.

Other further study options include the Graduate Diploma and Master of Creative Arts (Creative Writing), Graduate Diploma and Master of Creative Arts (Drama), Graduate Diploma and Master of Creative Arts (Screen), and the Graduate Certificate, Graduate Diploma and Master of Screen and Media Production.

- Prepares you for a career as a professionally qualified designer, able to fulfil a broad range of roles in fashion and related industries.
- Is the only three-year Bachelor degree in fashion design in South Australia.
- Enables you to combine practical skills in fashion design with theoretical knowledge.
- Provides a fully integrated university and TAFE program of study.
The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Screen) provides the conceptual and practical groundwork needed to devise short, screen-based productions. At each stage of the degree you will develop your screen production skills, as you learn and strengthen the basic technical and intellectual skills required to produce screen-based media from conception and scripting to production, post-production and presentation. In addition, you can specialise in specific skills including producing, cinematography, directing, writing, editing or production management.

The course gives you a unique opportunity to study amongst a community of filmmakers and explore your creativity by planning and executing your own screen projects. You can develop the technical and intellectual skills to create a hard-hitting documentary, or bring a fictional work to life – the choice is yours. Flinders graduates find work on Australian and international productions and include award-winning cinematographers, directors, producers, and editors such as Matt Bate, Amy Gebhardt, Nick Matthews, Granaz Moussavi and Sean Lahiff.

Flinders University is a major sponsor of the Bigpond Adelaide Film Festival.

STUDY PROGRAM
Throughout the course, you will undertake critical and historical topics that examine the moving image as a technological force, an artistic medium, a textual system, and an instrument of ideology, while also looking at the economics of entertainment and information.

This combination of production and critical topics produces graduates who are able to work in documentary and short fiction forms, with strong management and administrative skills that are valued in a range of creative industries including arts administration and promotion.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE
The course enables you to delve into your very own short films and screen-based productions. You will get a unique opportunity to explore every aspect of the creative process, from conception and scripting to production, post production and presentation. You will also have the opportunity to experiment with film and different mediums, and learn how film can be used by different businesses and organisations in the workplace. As a graduate, you will be prepared with industry-level training and an exclusive comprehension of the sector.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
Some potential occupations for graduates include cinematographer, director, production assistant, video editor / multimedia designer, video journalist, and programming and traffic assistant. Potential employers include Australian Broadcasting Corporation, Nine Entertainment Co, Fox Studios Australia, Carclew Youth Arts Centre, Adelaide Football Club, and Imageination.tv.

Michael knew he wanted to be a film-industry practitioner, so chose his media course carefully. Flinders was recommended; it had small classes, was skills-targeted and had a focus on screen, particularly film.

Michael enjoyed building relationships with his classmates. “We had the same interests. We’d catch up, brainstorm ideas and collaborate out of uni, so we became close friends.”

Through the course, Michael organised an attachment with Closer Productions on the film “52 Tuesdays”. After completing his six-week placement, Michael continued to be employed.

“Uni taught us history and theory, and gave us access to equipment and facilities. It’s not only about what you do at uni though; it’s about pushing yourself to get out there, and to work hard. The Flinders Creations crew extensively uses students; it’s an excellent way to start working in the industry.”
The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Visual Arts), delivered in partnership with TAFE SA* via the Adelaide College of the Arts (AC Arts), offers you the opportunity to study a range of visual arts disciplines in purpose-built studios and provides you with the technical, aesthetic, historical, business and artistic skills to launch a solid career in the arts. You will learn from expert practising artists and combine your practical experience with comprehensive art theory through a fully integrated university and TAFE program of study.

This course enables you to unleash your creative side while gaining the skills and knowledge in your preferred artistic discipline. This is supported by the personalised approach of our teachers, who are not only experts in their field, but have a passion for fostering and nurturing your artistic talent.

The Bachelor of Creative Arts (Visual Arts) draws on the strengths and reputations of both TAFE SA – the centre of excellence in visual arts – and Flinders University – the leading provider of creative arts courses in South Australia – to provide you with a combination of visual art theory and practice that you won’t find anywhere else. You will enrol concurrently in the Advanced Diploma of Visual Art (CUV60211) from TAFE SA and the Bachelor of Creative Arts (Visual Art) from Flinders University.

Many past graduates have gone on to achieve national and international awards and mentorships and meaningful careers in the arts industry.

The visual arts are all about creative and multi-sensory practices. They encompass ceramics, digital media, drawing, jewellery, painting, photography, printmaking and sculpture. The visual arts are an arena for creativity, experimentation and exploration, and require you to think visually, critically and laterally.

STUDY PROGRAM

The study program mixes a foundation in all of the visual arts disciplines along with a range of contemporary ideas and approaches both academically and practically. Studio specialisation begins in the second year of study and includes ceramics, digital media, drawing, jewellery, painting, photography, printmaking and sculpture. This is supported by a range of critical and creative topics including art history, arts business and a range of electives offered by Flinders University.

The third year introduces interdisciplinary electives to support the specialisations, while fostering and encouraging new ways of thinking and building a sustainable career in the arts.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

You will have access to high quality, fully equipped studios and exhibition spaces to explore your artistic interests in a range of media including ceramics, jewellery, painting, drawing, photography, digital media, printmaking or sculpture.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

It’s up to you to decide how you will use your creative training. Many visual artists are self-employed while some find employment opportunities within cultural or community institutions and in the fields of education, advertising, and design.

Some potential occupations for graduates include visual artist, illustrator, advertising art director, community arts projects officer, curator, sculptor, arts and culture development officer, and art gallery administrative officer.

Potential employers include The Marion Cultural Centre, Art Gallery of South Australia, Community Arts Network SA, Country Arts SA, Carclew Youth Arts, T’Arts Collective, and self-employment.

We were taught by real people from the industry and I found that meant I was quite well prepared for those conversations with tourism operators because of not just what I studied but who I learned from. After graduating, I’ve worked for the RAA and the SA Tourism Industry Council organising events and conferences. It’s been great fun.

LANGUAGES AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Languages is an enriching degree that provides you with strong language skills and deep cultural understanding. Not only does it allow you to study abroad and practice those new skills in the real world but it opens up a range of career options, including tourism, government, teaching, translating and interpreting.

Flinders boasts a degree with the most languages to choose from in South Australia. Languages available for study include:

- Chinese
- French
- Indonesian
- Italian
- Modern Greek
- Spanish

In addition to these Flinders languages, our cross-institutional agreement with other South Australian universities enables you to study Chinese (Advanced), German and Japanese in your degree.

The Bachelor of Languages enables you to immerse yourself in an intensive study of two languages. You can pick the languages that suit your dream career, cultural fascinations or family ethnicity. During the course you will experience a rich blend of language skills and cultural studies. By the end of your degree, not only will you be communicating confidently in another tongue but you will also gain a deep understanding of the history, people and ideas that have shaped the language you chose to learn and how that it fits into the world around us.

Your teachers will be mostly native speakers, sharing their culture with you in a relaxed and enjoyable atmosphere, through multimedia as well as your usual lectures and tutorials. With lots of languages in the same faculty, expect a supportive and close knit community. Teachers are passionate about helping their students overcome the barriers of learning a new language and helping them connect with a culture and community beyond their own.

The world is getting smaller and knowing more than one language can be a huge advantage. Learning a foreign language opens up other cultures and perspectives, as well as holding personal, professional, social and practical benefits.

LANGUAGES OFFERED AT FLINDERS

CHINESE

As Australia strengthens its ties with the Asia-Pacific region, Chinese is rapidly becoming an important language for trade, tourism and international relations. Mandarin Chinese was offered as a Flinders University major for the first time in 2012.

Language topics are provided by Charles Darwin University with support from Chinese-born staff at Flinders. You will learn beginners’ Chinese, including the spoken language and the simplified Chinese characters used in mainland China. A range of culture topics provided on-campus by Flinders University allows you to explore areas such as Chinese history, culture and government.

Opportunities exist to experience Chinese culture first-hand, either through cross-institutional enrolment in in-country language studies options, or through Flinders Law School’s Shanghai summer school.

FRENCH

French is the official language of 33 countries spread over five continents. As well as being a major commercial and scientific language in the European Union, French is a language of diplomacy and an official working language of major international organisations (eg the United Nations, the World Trade Organisation, Amnesty International, the Olympic movement, the International Red Cross). It is the second most widespread and well-distributed language of the media, and is an asset in such fields as cultural exchanges, scientific collaboration and the promotion of trade ties between France and Australia.

To increase the benefit of your language studies, you can choose to study for one or two semesters in a number of world-class universities in Paris and throughout France, as well as at York University in Toronto where you will be able to take your French to more advanced levels.

You may also be able to undertake a two-to-three week linguistic and cultural immersion at the CREIPAC in New Caledonia over the November/December period, or a three-week immersion course in France in January (depending on the program’s availability). These short courses are organised directly through the French section of the Department of Language Studies, and can be assessed as part of your French cultural studies. The French Government, through the French Embassy in Canberra, offers a number of grants to support students who wish to study in a French-speaking country.
INDONESIAN
Bahasa Indonesia is closely related to Malay and is a language of communication throughout our region. It is used in places including Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and Brunei.

Studying Indonesian language is vital to understanding this region and an invaluable asset for students contemplating careers in government service, private business or teaching in Australia. Our graduates are working in diverse fields including foreign affairs, diplomacy, international aid agencies, journalism, healthcare, security, business and education.

Classes are taught by Indonesian and Australian teachers and we have arrangements with a number of Indonesian universities to provide in-country study options that can be credited to a Flinders degree.

ITALIAN
Italy has been a world leader in literature, architecture, painting, sculpture, music and design for the past 800 years. Today it is an essential tourist destination and a major trading partner with Australia. Knowledge of Italian can be of benefit in fields such as tourism, hospitality, music, fashion, design, architecture, science, education, technology, government services, international law, commerce and sport.

You can also practise and use Italian in your own community. Italian is the second most widely spoken language in Australia, with more than half a million people using it every day.

Flinders has exchange agreements with several universities in Italy. The Italian Government, through the Italian Embassy in Canberra, provides scholarships every year for Australian citizens who wish to study in Italy. Other opportunities for study in Italy are also available.

MODERN GREEK
Greece is the home of the Olympic Games and the origin of many active migrant communities around the world, including Australia. Australia has a large number of Greek communities and Modern Greek is Australia’s third most spoken language. Many Greek Australians use Modern Greek for their day-to-day personal and professional life.

Hellenism is the western world’s cultural heritage: it shares the literary, philosophical, aesthetic and scientific masterpieces of a remarkable civilisation with an intellectual continuity of 3000 years. The study of Modern Greek language will provide you with the background knowledge to understand your own language and society in general.

Your experience of studying Modern Greek at Flinders is enhanced by the University’s newly established LOGOS Australian Centre for Hellenic Language and Culture, which is dedicated to the promotion of Greek language and culture through state-of-the-art teaching and research.

SPANISH
Spanish is now the second “world language”. Spoken by 500 million people (the most of any European language), it is the official language of 21 countries and is widely spoken in 22 others. It is the seventh most spoken language in Australia, is second only to English in the US, and is the third most frequently used language online.

Spanish is an official language of the United Nations, the European Union, the World Trade Organisation and 70 other international organisations. In addition, it is a major business language which has a strong profile in the Asia Pacific region, Europe and North and South America.

Spanish is also an important language of culture. It is the language of the ten Hispanic authors who have won the Nobel Prize for Literature; of film directors and actors such as Almodovar, Javier Bardem and Salma Hayek; of the painters Pablo Picasso, Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo; and of famous musicians such as Placido Domingo, Piazzola and Pitbull. It is also the language of salsa, tapas, tango and flamenco.

Flinders has exchange agreements with universities in Spain, Argentina, Chile and Mexico so students can spend one or two semesters studying overseas and receive credit towards their degree. Other study abroad options are also available.

STUDY PROGRAM
The Bachelor of Languages enables you to study your chosen target language in depth while also studying a second target language. It includes a range of cultural and linguistics topics that greatly enrich your experience and knowledge of your chosen languages.

Depending on your prior experience, streams are available for those beginning their language studies and those continuing from year 12 or equivalent.

You will be expected to focus your studies on one of the offered target languages: Chinese, French, Indonesian, Italian, Modern Greek or Spanish.

You will also have the opportunity to study a second language, either from the list above but also including German or Japanese. Alternatively you can study a related area, such as applied linguistics, English, creative writing or teaching English as a second language.

FIRST YEAR
In first year you will take classes in your chosen languages and learn about the nature and functions of language, as well as acquiring the basic strategic tools to reinforce your language learning. You will also study two electives from the first-level pool of topics available in the Bachelor of Arts program.

SECOND AND THIRD YEARS
In second and third years you will study a number of related topics in addition to your chosen languages to provide you with greater cultural awareness and linguistic knowledge. Related topics may include cultural studies, linguistics, language education and migration studies.

THIRD YEAR
In third year you may have the opportunity either to study abroad or undertake relevant community-based placement locally, and have it credited towards your Bachelor of Languages degree.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT SCHEME
The Advanced Placement Scheme enables students enrolled in an undergraduate degree at Flinders University to apply to enter language studies directly at the second-year level. The scheme is available to students who have obtained an ATAR-adjusted score of 19 or 20 out of 20 in French, Italian, Modern Greek or Spanish, provided that they have the necessary documentation.
PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE
You are encouraged to put your language into action via placements in organisations such as film festivals, care facilities, ethnic radio stations and other community organisations.

STUDYING OVERSEAS
Flinders University has a series of international exchange links that give you the chance to study part of your degree overseas. In the Bachelor of Languages you can spend three weeks, a semester, or a year of soaking up the customs, traditions and vocabulary of your country of choice.

For more information on all exchange opportunities and scholarships at Flinders go to: flinders.edu.au/flinders-abroad

COMBINED DEGREES
You can combine the Bachelor of Languages with the following bachelor degrees: international tourism, laws and legal practice, and laws and legal practice (honours).

DOUBLE DEGREES
The Bachelor of Education (Secondary Schooling)/Bachelor of Languages prepares you to teach foreign languages at the year 12 level. This double degree enables you to combine the skills and knowledge to become a secondary school teacher with the qualifications to teach two different foreign languages.

OTHER LANGUAGE OPTIONS
There are a number of other options to study a language at Flinders. See page 36 for more details on these options.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
Some potential occupations for graduates include translator, interpreter, foreign language intelligence analyst, settlement support officer, international student advisor, exchanges and study abroad assistant, and international trade officer.

Potential employers include Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Department for Communities and Social Inclusion, Special Broadcasting Service, Australian Red Cross, and PolyGlot Group.

For more information on careers services and potential career opportunities go to: flinders.edu.au/careers

FURTHER STUDY
A Bachelor of Arts (Honours) and Bachelor of International Studies (Honours) are available.

Other further study options include Graduate Certificate and Graduate Diploma in Language Teaching, and Master of Language Studies.

Anthony Kalogerinis
SENIOR ASSETS ENGINEER AT THE CITY OF BURNSIDE (SA)
FLINDERS STUDENT OF MODERN GREEK
The Bachelor of Languages at Flinders allows me to study both French and Italian. I wanted to go to a university which allowed me to study two languages as a part of one single degree and such a degree is only offered at Flinders.

What I love about studying Italian and French at Flinders is that it’s not just the linguistic side of things – each semester there is a cultural component to the subjects.

This year I’m also doing some study in international business. Incorporating business into my language studies will help open up opportunities for me around the world.”

THERE’S MORE THAN ONE WAY TO STUDY A LANGUAGE AT FLINDERS

In addition to the Bachelor of Languages, which enables you to study two languages intensively, you can also study a language as a major in a range of Flinders courses, or combine your chosen course with a Bachelor of Letters in a language.
STUDYING LANGUAGE AS A MAJOR

Language major sequences are available in the Bachelor of Arts (SATAC code 214031); Bachelor of Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers (SATAC code 224561); and Bachelor of Business (SATAC code 214761). All courses are three years full-time or equivalent part-time.

If your choice is a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers, Bachelor of Business or Bachelor of International Relations, you can select a language as one of your major sequences. The Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Arts – Enhanced Program for High Achievers allow for up to two majors, so you can focus on the areas that interest you.

BACHELOR OF LETTERS IN A LANGUAGE

The Bachelor of Letters in a language is normally three years part-time in conjunction with a bachelor degree, adding one extra year to your overall program. If you are undertaking any other degree at Flinders – from science or psychology to law or business – you can complete a Bachelor of Letters in a language alongside your bachelor degree. All six languages are available and by adding one extra year to your normal study program for your bachelor degree, you will graduate with two qualifications. You can apply for entry into the Bachelor of Letters when you enrol in your bachelor degree. The Bachelor of Letters is also available as a graduate-entry degree via SATAC.

If you wish to study a third target language, you can even enrol concurrently in the Bachelor of Letters in a language and the Bachelor of Languages.

MEDIA ARTS AT FLINDERS
The Bachelor of Media Arts at Flinders prepares you for a creative career in media, enabling you to develop your artistic and technological abilities while gaining the skills to communicate ideas in effective and engaging ways. It provides you with practical skills and knowledge in digital media and screen production, preparing you to produce content in a range of formats. The course also helps you to combine your creative passions with knowledge in areas such as business, policy and the creative industries.

This course gives you the opportunity to delve into all things digital media – including graphic design and interactive design – and screen production – enabling you to take media projects from concept development through to the process of shooting, editing and marketing. It combines digital media and screen production with other areas such as creative writing, drama, business, international studies, public policy and tourism.

We live in a world that is inundated with media – from the internet to our smart phones, digital information is with us everywhere. Media arts is about making the message you are conveying stand out. These skills are also transferable to a wide range of industries from the arts and advertising through to business and government.

STUDY PROGRAM
The Bachelor of Media Arts at Flinders provides you with an exciting combination of theory and production topics in digital media and screen, enabling you to pursue a study program that suits your passions and interests.

Digital media topics provide you with skills in graphic design and interactive design, while screen production topics give you the opportunity to learn how concept development leads to the process of production, post production and presentation. Complementing the digital media and screen production content are topics in media policy, television and factual forms of media production.

This core of topics is designed to give you a solid foundation in the skills required to produce media in a range of formats and a theoretical understanding of the function of the constantly changing media industry and its relationship with other industries and areas of life.

From first year you will also have the opportunity to select and specialise in areas such as business, policy and tourism. THEOLOGY AT FLINDERS

The Bachelor of Theology aims to deepen the understanding and expression of Christian faith. It is specifically the study of Christian traditions and thought. This course is interdisciplinary, combining biblical studies, church history, systematic theology and Christian ethics with an optional stream comprising professional ministry studies such as pastoral care, Christian education and preaching. It goes beyond traditional teachings to examine theology alongside other fields of study as well as issues critical to contemporary society and culture.

In this course, you can explore what it means to be human and look at contemporary issues such as social justice, the environment, multiculturalism, religious pluralism, health and welfare based on perspectives of Christian scriptures and traditions. The course provides a strong grounding in Christian theology and tradition and encourages collaboration with other fields of study, including philosophy, social justice, ecology, ethics and women’s studies.

The Bachelor of Theology at Flinders can also help you launch your career by taking an optional stream in ministry studies, including Christian leadership, pastoral care, chaplaincy and Christian education.

Our teachers represent a myriad of Christian faiths, including Anglican, Baptist, Catholic, Churches of Christ, Lutheran, Orthodox, Pentecostal, Salvation Army and Uniting Church. They will encourage you to explore religion from a number of perspectives, such as history, philosophy, anthropology and psychology.

Christianity has had a substantial impact on our culture and it continues to shape the world we live in and how we approach our lives. Studying theology helps you develop an awareness of how Christian faith and religion affect all aspects of life and modern thought, including global matters such as economics, the environment and community health.

STUDY PROGRAM

You will engage in a deep understanding of history and systematic theology, in-depth biblical studies, ministry studies and learn the biblical languages. Choose more traditional electives like Pauline letters or church ministry and sacraments or expand your horizons to the bible and popular culture or exploring cross-cultural ministry.

ADELAIDE COLLEGE OF DIVINITY

Flinders offers the bachelor of Theology in association with the Adelaide College of Divinity, an ecumenical college which includes the Uniting College for Leadership and Theology (Uniting Church) and lecturers drawn from a range of denominations.

Most theology classes are held at the Adelaide College of Divinity campus in Brooklyn Park, which also houses Uniting College; the Centre for Theology, Science and Culture; and the Adelaide Theological Library.

The Adelaide Theological Library’s collection includes over 68,000 volumes and 200 current periodicals, and is integrated with the Flinders University Library Catalogue.

Classes in non-theological disciplines are held at the Flinders campus at Bedford Park.

CREDIT TRANSFER

You may be eligible for credit for successfully completed courses at TAFE and other tertiary institutions, including the Adelaide College of Divinity and other accredited theological colleges.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

The Bachelor of Theology combined with further professional training can lead to various forms of ministry and prepare graduates for a variety of roles within their church community.

Some potential occupations for graduates include Christian youth worker, religious liaison officer, social justice officer, community relations officer, welfare officer, and pastoral care worker.

Potential employers include Schools Ministry Group, Uniting Communities, Brotherhood of St. Laurence, World Vision, The Salvation Army, and Calvary Health Care Adelaide.

TOURISM MANAGEMENT AT FLINDERS
The Bachelor of Tourism Management, offered in conjunction with TAFE SA*, gives you a global perspective of the tourism industry, preparing you for a career in tourism and travel.

You will focus on gaining specialised managerial skills and in-depth knowledge of areas such as selling tourism products and services, tourist service, marketing, human resource management, and tourism research.

The Bachelor of Tourism Management is a flexible and approachable degree that combines academic knowledge, theory and skills along with the vocational components of TAFE SA’s Advanced Diploma of Travel and Tourism (SIT60112).

The field of tourism encompasses a worldwide industry that covers multiple careers. There are opportunities to work within festivals and events, tour companies, museums, art galleries or visitor information centres and more at a local, national or international level.

As the tourism industry seeks highly qualified candidates – who are skills-oriented and possess sophisticated business knowledge – this professional, hands-on degree will set you apart from the rest.

*TAFE SA RTO code: 41026

STUDY PROGRAM
This flexible degree offers you the best of both university and TAFE study, fostering academic knowledge, theory and skills while providing you with extensive vocational experience opportunities to prepare you for your career.

You will develop a global perspective of the tourism industry and gain in-depth knowledge of the tourism and travel industry, as well as learning problem solving, managerial techniques, research skills, and how to make strategic business decisions.

In combination with the vocational subjects studied within the Advanced Diploma of Travel and Tourism (SIT60112) at TAFE SA, you will study twelve topics that include interpretive tour guiding, event design and practice, small business and tourism business planning, contemporary issues in tourism, and tourism research.

You will dive into emerging travel and tourism industry practices, market and product trends, and develop business plans for sustainable and profitable operation. The degree will also foster an awareness of the significance of conservation and sustainable development, the preservation and management of heritage, and how to maintain cultural and environmental capital.

You will undertake the TAFE SA Advanced Diploma of Travel and Tourism (SIT60112) concurrently with the Bachelor of Tourism Management.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE
The degree offers a range of interactive learning, business simulation experiences and industry based projects that enable you to put what you have learned into practice, equipping you for a career in the travel and tourism industries.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
Some potential occupations for graduates include industry development officer, tourism policy and project officer, tourism development officer, tourism information officer, tourism marketing assistant, and tour coordinator.

Potential employers include South Australian Tourism Commission, InterContinental Hotels Group, Port Adelaide Enfield Council, The Flight Centre, Voyages Indigenous Tourism Australia, South Australian Tourism Industry Council, and Tourism Australia.

For more information on careers services and potential career opportunities go to: flinders.edu.au/careers

FURTHER STUDY
A Bachelor of International Tourism (Honours) is available.

Other further study options include postgraduate courses in tourism and festival and event design and management, and research higher degrees such as the Master of Arts (research) and PhD.

TERMINOLOGY

ASSUMED KNOWLEDGE
Some courses assume that you will have certain knowledge and skills from previous study (eg SACE).

ATAR
Australian Tertiary Admission Rank. The ATAR selection rank listed for each course is the minimum year 12 rank in 2015 which guaranteed selection for applicants competing in the year 12 sub-quota. The ATAR selection rank includes any university equity and subject bonus points that may have been applied.

BACHELOR DEGREE
Normally a first tertiary-level degree – also known as an undergraduate degree.

COMBINED DEGREES
Two courses studied at the same time for which you receive two parchments upon successful completion, eg laws and legal practice/commerce. Cross-credit reduces the total time you study.

DOUBLE DEGREES
Two courses studied at the same time for which you receive one parchment upon successful completion, eg education/arts.

ELECTIVE/OPTION TOPICS
Topics in a study area of your interest which can be chosen in addition to core topics.

EXTERNAL STUDENT
A person undertaking all of their study online on either a full-time or a part-time basis.

GPA
Grade point average. Your GPA is a measure of your academic achievement at university based on your results for each topic studied.

HONOURS
A degree involving both coursework and a research thesis generally undertaken after an undergraduate degree and before a postgraduate research degree. Honours usually adds one year to the duration of a regular undergraduate degree and is either applied for separately or as part of an undergraduate degree with honours included.

IB
International baccalaureate. IB qualifications are recognised by Flinders for entry into undergraduate programs.

LLM
SA Language, Literacy and Mathematics Bonus Scheme. Students who have successfully completed a secondary school subject in specific language, English and mathematics categories will be eligible for between two and four bonus points under the scheme (excludes Bachelor of Clinical Sciences/Doctor of Medicine applicants).

MODE
Mode refers to how a course is delivered. Most Flinders courses are delivered internally – ie on-campus; however, some are available externally or as a combination of both.

POSTGRADUATE COURSE
A university course studied after completion of an undergraduate degree.

PREREQUISITE
Some courses require you to have completed specific subjects in your previous study (eg SACE).

SACE
South Australian Certificate of Education. The SACE is awarded to South Australian students who successfully complete year 12.

SEMESTER
The academic year is divided into two semesters – usually late-February to mid-June, and late-July to November. Some individual topics are also available to study over the summer break.

STAT
Special Tertiary Admissions Test. You can sit the STAT if entering Flinders via the Adult Entry Scheme. The test is designed to assess your ability to study at university.

TOPIC
A subject studied as part of a degree program. Core topics are compulsory subjects that form the basis of a study program.

UEQ
SA Universities Equity Scheme. Students from certain specified secondary schools, and students from other schools who are able to demonstrate their individual disadvantage, are eligible for five bonus points under the scheme.

UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE
A first tertiary-level degree – also known as a bachelor degree.

UNIT
Each topic is given a weighting in units. Flinders topics are weighted in multiples of 4.5 units. Full-time students normally complete 18 units each semester, or 36 units a year.
ENTRY OPTIONS

COMPETITIVE ATAR ENTRY
The majority of year 12 applicants enter university via the traditional competitive entry method, where offers are made to eligible applicants with the highest ATARs until all places in the course are filled. The 2015 ATAR cut-offs for each course entry listed are provided only as a guide for 2016 entry and may change with the 2016 intake.

GUARANTEED ENTRY ATAR
Achieve an ATAR equal to or above the published guaranteed entry ATAR and you will be guaranteed a place at Flinders. All you need to do is ensure you have listed Flinders courses first in your preferences and you will be offered a place in the highest Flinders course preference that you are eligible for in 2016. More information can be found at: flinders.edu.au/guaranteedatar

BONUS POINTS
Bonus points may contribute to your ATAR when applying for university. Two bonus schemes are available for South Australian year 12 students applying for entry to Flinders in 2016: the SA Universities Equity Scheme and the SA Language, Literacy and Mathematics Bonus Scheme. More information about your eligibility for bonus points is available at: flinders.edu.au/bonuspoints

TAFELINK
Flinders offers guaranteed entry to selected courses for applicants who have completed a TAFE/VET certificate IV or higher level qualification, so long as course prerequisites are met. Importantly, your TAFE/VET qualification does not need to be related to your selected area of study at Flinders. More information is available at: flinders.edu.au/tafelink

FOUNDATION STUDIES
The Foundation Studies Program has been designed to introduce you to university study in a supportive learning environment. Open to people from all backgrounds, the Foundation Studies Program provides a pathway to gain entry to degrees at Flinders University. For more information go to: flinders.edu.au/foundation

ADULT ENTRY
The Adult Entry Scheme enables people aged 18 years and over to apply to study at Flinders via the Special Tertiary Admissions Test (STAT). Applications are made via SATAC. Find out more at: flinders.edu.au/adultentry

ENTRY PATHWAYS
At Flinders we recognise that every prospective student is an individual and that what works for one might not be right for another. That’s why we provide various entry pathways into Flinders University and your preferred course, including uniTEST, Flinderslink, and TAFE SA dual offers. You are encouraged to explore your options and find the entry path that’s right for you at: flinders.edu.au/pathways

ENHANCE YOUR DEGREE

COMBINED DEGREES
A combined degree is a combination of two Flinders bachelor degrees. As a combined degree graduate you will gain two qualifications in just one to one-and-a-half years of extra study.
Our combined degree programs are designed to enhance your educational, academic and professional qualifications whilst minimising the cost and length of your studies. Flinders combined degrees allow you to undertake in-depth study in exciting combinations that aren’t usually available in single degrees. Many graduates believe that a combined degree gives them an advantage for employment.
More information on the combined degree options available for each course at Flinders can be found on the undergraduate course pages at: flinders.edu.au/courses/undergrad

HOW TO APPLY

Flinders offers two admissions cycles each year for undergraduate courses.
Semester 1 – February start. Applications open in August for commencement the following year.
Semester 2* – July start. Mid-year applications open in August for commencement in July the following year. Applicants need to apply through the South Australian Tertiary Admissions Centre (SATAC): satac.edu.au
*Not all courses are offered for semester 2 entry.

SUBSCRIBE FOR A CHANCE TO WIN PRIZES

Flinders Explorer is a great way to find out everything you need to know about studying at Flinders University. Flinders Explorer is an e-newsletter, written for students by students.
Our current students will provide tips, tell you their stories and share advice. Basically they will tell you what to expect and help you to decide which course best suits you because they’ve been where you are now.
Along the way, we will provide you with information on our courses, entry pathways, scholarships and reminders of upcoming events and important application dates.
Subscription is free and gives you the chance to win cool prizes like an iPad, shopping vouchers and movie, concert and event tickets.
