Flinders University, University of Adelaide and University of South Australia invite you to attend a Youth Leadership and Development forum presented by Dr. Barbara Ferman. Dr. Ferman is Professor of Political Science and Founder and Executive Director of the University Community Collaborative of Philadelphia, at Temple University. Dr. Ferman not only epitomizes the "engaged scholar," but she has successfully built the infrastructure necessary for a major metropolitan research university to sustain project-based collaborations with the community. Her presentation will interest those involved in youth leadership development, community development, and engaged scholarship.

15th March, 2011
1pm to 2.30pm
Room One, Level One
Flinders University City Campus
182 Victoria Square,
(the old Reserve Bank Building)
Enter from Flinders Street or Victoria Square
Afternoon tea provided

How can community organisations, universities and students work together to support authentic youth leadership development?

What does it look like, what are the challenges, what are the opportunities, and why should we even care?

Please RSVP to respective University contacts:

Darlene Voss, Flinders University  Ph: 8201 7679
E: darlene.voss@flinders.edu.au

Joe Bennink, University of South Australia  Ph: 8303 4574
E: joe.bennink@adelaide.edu.au

Guy Robinson, University of South Australia  Ph: 8647 6005
E: guy.robinson@unisa.edu.au