Services

Library Homepage
The Library homepage is at:  http://www.flinders.edu.au/library/
This provides access to services and information resources available from the University Library. It also provides the latest news and information about Library services.

Library Catalogue
FindIt@Flinders  http://library.flinders.edu.au/go/findit is a search engine that provides relevance ranked results from the Flinders University Library's online and print collections in a single search. It is available from the Library’s homepage and includes everything found in the Library's catalogue (books, eBooks and DVDs) plus content available through Library databases such as journal articles. FindIt@Flinders also offers the ability to check your record, renew loans and place items on hold via your account. Ask at the Information desk if you need further assistance.

Information Service
An Information Service point is co-located with Lending Services and is staffed by Reference Librarians. Detailed or complex literature searches will usually be referred to the Liaison Librarian.

Internet and Email Workstations
The Gus Fraenkel Medical Library provides workstations for Internet access and word processing as a research and study resource for Flinders University staff and students and these require a FAN login. Additionally, iMAC computers are available in the LTU Unit, adjacent to the Medical Library, for use by School of Medicine students, on a 24/7 basis.
FMC staff have access to 2 SA Health computers available at the back of the Library. There are also 2 OPACs (open access computers) at the front of the Library to search the Library catalogue for books and journals.

Printing, Photocopying and Scanning
Unicard manages photocopying and printing services throughout the University. Students can print or copy to a student printer and add credit to their Student ID cards. Scanning is also available. For assistance or to report faults call Unicard on 8201 3413.
Services (cont.)

Group Workstations
There are three group workstations in the Medical Library. These workstations have a computer with a large movable screen placed on a work area that accommodates 2 or more students. The large screen allows group members to easily view and work on a collaborative project. There is also ample desk area for books and papers.

Silent Study Rooms
The Medical Library currently has 31 silent study places for the use of students who need to work silently, individually and uninterrupted. These rooms are not designed for group discussions, which can take place elsewhere in the Library.

Document Delivery
This service locates and obtains material not held by any of the Flinders University Libraries. It is available to University staff and higher degree students at no cost. However charges may apply for premium or fast-track services. Requests may be placed electronically from the Document Delivery web page http://www.flinders.edu.au/library/services/docserv/ and most articles are delivered electronically via email. For more information: contact Document Delivery Staff on 8201 2175. For FMC Staff Interlibrary loans can be arranged via SALUS http://salus.sa.gov.au/ill

SendIt – Off Campus Library Service
This service provides support to Flinders University Students who are studying externally or by other flexible means and live (or are on placement) outside the Adelaide metropolitan area. It also supports staff members based outside the Adelaide metropolitan area or at sites other than the Bedford Park campus, eg Repat Hospital.

The service provides access to a wide range of library materials and services including: supplying books and articles, arranging student cards, advising on reciprocal borrowing rights with other university libraries, and reference and help services for students who live outside the Adelaide metropolitan area. You will need to register before you can use the service. For more information: http://www.flinders.edu.au/library/services/flexdel/
Electronic Books
The library has a growing collection of eBooks that University students and staff can access via FindIt@Flinders.

Electronic Databases
University students and staff are able to access databases the library subscribes to via the library's homepage under Databases.
http://library.flinders.edu.au/resources/databases

Databases may be browsed alphabetically by title or listed by subject. Relevant health sciences databases include UpToDate, Best Practice, CINAHL, Medline, Scopus, Web of Science, Cochrane Library, Therapeutic Guidelines and PsycInfo. Most databases are available on and off campus. Also, Databases for Research in Health is available as a valuable guide outlining free and subscription based databases relevant to the health sciences.

For remote access to databases, log in with your FAN (Flinders Authentication Name) or Library barcode. Please ask at the Information Desk about suitable databases for your field of research and for help with searching these resources.

Electronic Journals
The Library provides University students and staff access to many thousands of full text electronic journals. These are accessible by searching on FindIt@Flinders or searching e-Journals directly using the e-Journals A-Z link on the main FindIt@Flinders screen.

Major e-Journal collections include ScienceDirect, Journals@Ovid, Proquest, Wiley Online, Informa Healthcare and Taylor & Francis. E-Journals can be browsed alphabetically by title. For remote access, log in with your FAN or Library barcode.
FMC Staff access to Clinical Resources

FMC Staff are able to access a large number of clinical resources via SALUS (http://salus.sa.gov.au) on the SA Health website. Access to Electronic Databases, Electronic Journals and eBook collections is available 24/7 from work or home via a SALUS logon.

Services include:

- Literature searching – a librarian will comprehensively search core clinical databases to find the most relevant journal articles on your topic
- Interlibrary Loans and Document Delivery – if we don’t have access to a book or article we’ll retrieve the item from another source
- Orientation, training and support – help in all aspects of the use of online resources and with the development of information skills and competencies
- Immediate assistance via online chat

For more information:

- the FMC Staff Access to Resources and Services webpage provides a good overview of the dual access to services, http://www.flinders.edu.au/library/info/branches/medical-library/fmc-staff-access.cfm

Borrowing

Privileges and Procedures
Items may be borrowed from any branch of the University Library with a current student or staff card. The Universities’ Research Repository South Australia (URRSA) has restricted opening hours, but it is possible to have items delivered to the Medical Library from URRSA by using the Request option in FindIt@Flinders.

Books
Flinders University Staff, Students and FMC Staff can borrow up to 100 items. Non Flinders University borrowers can borrow 20 items. Both 7 and 28 day loans automatically renew up to 4 times unless a hold is placed on the item.

Journals
Print journals are available for 28 day loan. Items stamped "Available for loan as a book" are also available for 4 week loan.

Holds
Holds may be placed via FindIt@Flinders on 28 and 7 day loan items currently on loan from any of the University libraries. You will need to “Sign in” to your account on FindIt@Flinders to make a request and choose the Medical Library as the Pick-up location or the item will automatically go to Central Library. When a hold is placed, the item is set aside once returned and an email/SMS notification is sent to the requesting person. The item may then be collected from the Holds shelf located next to the newspapers and borrowed from the Circulation desk.
Borrowing (cont.)

Renewals
Patron loans will be renewed automatically until the renewal limit of four times is reached or a hold request is placed on the item, in which case the patron will be asked to return the item once the current due date is reached.

Recalls
The library may recall items from patrons.

Reciprocal Borrowing Scheme
A reciprocal borrowing scheme exists between the libraries of the three universities in South Australia. Under this arrangement current students and staff members are entitled to borrow from the other two university libraries. Registration is not required; just take the books you want to borrow to the Loans desk, together with your University ID Card.

Each of the libraries has set out conditions for reciprocal borrowing. These may be found at:

Adelaide University

University of South Australia

Collections

Classification System
The Flinders University Library (except the Law Library) uses the Dewey Decimal System to classify its collections. More information is available on this in the Library. When searching for items on the shelves, note the full location number as shown on the catalogue.

Book Collection
Books are shelved in Dewey order on the western side of the Gus Fraenkel Medical Library.
Collections (cont.)

Journal Collection
Journals are located on the eastern side of the Gus Fraenkel Medical Library. This includes print copies of journals, annual reports and some government publications. Journals are arranged in Dewey order.

The latest issue of each periodical we subscribe to in print format is put on display on the shelves near the newspapers on the western side of the Library. This display is arranged alphabetically by journal title. Recent issues of most journals are now available in electronic format.

Reference Collection
The Reference Collection is located close to the front of the book collection, on the verso of Shelf 1 and includes a range of dictionaries and directories. Reference materials are not available for loan but many items are available electronically.

Audio Visual Collection
The Medical Library has a comprehensive collection of DVDs available for loan including some CDs and kits. These items are shelved in the main book collection or situated on the Northern side of the library.

Text Book Collection
The Text Book Collection is housed behind the Lending desk and consists of items that are in heavy demand. During opening hours they are available for 2 hour loan. They may be taken out overnight within 2 hours of the library closing and returned at opening the following morning. Additional copies of these items are held in the main book collection.

eReadings
Many high demand course items are available electronically as eReadings. These items are essential readings which are accessible through your FLO page or you can browse by topic at: http://catalogue.flinders.edu.au/cgi-local/FLEX_course_reserve_builder.cgi
Medical Historical Collection
A small collection of pre-1940 medical books is located at the front of the Reference Collection at Shelf 1. Items are available for loan.

New Resources
New books and resources added to the collection are displayed for one week on the display shelves adjacent to the Library entrance. You are welcome to borrow these items.

Test Collection
A collection of Speech Pathology and Audiology test materials is held behind the Circulation desk. These items may be booked for 3 days at a time by completing a booking sheet for the individual test. Please inquire at the Information desk. A Search Smart Subject Guide for the Test Collection is available at:
http://flinders.libguides.com/speechpath

Thesis Collection
The Medical Library holds some copies of PhD theses and many Masters and Honours theses submitted by students in the School of Medicine. These are available for loan and are shelved in our book collection. Other theses are held in Special Collections at the Central Library or available online. All theses are listed in FindIt@Flinders.

Information regarding finding theses in the catalogue, lodgement, digital theses etc. is available at:
http://flinders.libguides.com/thesisdeposit
Other Flinders University Libraries

The Central Library
The Central Library is located on the northern side of the plaza on the main campus. Its broadly based collections are described on the Library's Web page. It is the administrative centre of the Flinders University Library.

The Law Library
The Law Library is found on Level 3 of the Central Library. Law reports, legislation, legal books and periodicals are shelved there. A wide range of electronic legal information services can be accessed from the Law Library.

The Sturt Library
The Sturt Library is located on the Northern Campus. It can be reached via the footbridge from Car Park 13 and the Library entrance is on Level 3 of the West Wing. The collection focuses on the areas of nursing & midwifery, paramedics, disability and rehabilitation studies, physiotherapy and other health science topics.

Universities’ Research Repository South Australia - URRSA
An increasing number of the Library's older books and periodicals are held in the URRSA, which is shared with the University of Adelaide and the University of South Australia. It is located next to Flinders Press near Car Park 9. Direct loans can be made from URRSA, or there is a service that sends requested material to the Central, Sturt or Gus Fraenkel Medical Library. Instructions on how to make an electronic request for this service via FindIt@Flinders are at:
At URRSA photocopies are charged at 10c per sheet and payment is made to the Attendant of the Store.

Adelaide Theological Library
The Adelaide Theological Library is affiliated with Flinders. Flinders staff and students may borrow directly from the library at Brooklyn Park. The library's holdings are listed on the Flinders catalogue. For more see: http://www.flinders.edu.au/ehl/theology/library.cfm
