CONFERENCE REGISTRATION FORM

Location

| A Sense for Humanity: The Ethical Thought of Raimond Gaita | HETZEL LECTURE THEATRE, INSTITUTE BUILDING, (Cnr Kintore Ave & North Tce) ADELAIDE, SOUTH AUSTRALIA |

Over the past thirty years Raimond Gaita has developed an original, powerful and sometimes controversial conception of the nature of morality and ethical thought. Gaita had made an outstanding contribution to contemporary analytic moral philosophy, not least for his distinctive vision of the nature of moral philosophy as an academic discipline. However the influence of his ethical thought extends through his various writings, including his acclaimed biography of his father, Romulus, My Father, well beyond academic philosophy to many researchers working in other disciplines and to many more members of the hard-thinking educated public.

On the occasion of Gaita’s retirement from the positions of Professor of Moral Philosophy at King’s College London and Foundation Professor of Philosophy at the Australian Catholic University, this conference will explore the broad influence of Gaita’s work, including in (but not restricted to) such fields as philosophy, politics, social work, psychology law and literature, as well as in public ethical debate more generally.

Confirmed conference speakers include Stephen Buckle, John Coetzee, Christopher Cordner, Nick Drake, Miranda Fricker, Michael Heyward, Geoffrey Levey, Anne Manne, Robert Manne, Alex Miller, Brigitta Olubas, Dorothy Scott, Gerry Simpson, Craig Taylor, Bernadette Tobin, Steven Tudor, and Arnold Zable.

"A Sense for Humanity" is convened by Dr Craig Taylor, and proudly supported by the Flinders Institute for Research in the Humanities.
