

Oceanic Palliative Care
Conference 13–15 Sept 2023

An evidence-based booklet to support grief & bereavement needs of families

J Tieman, P Vandersman, K Swetenham, M Brooksbank, and K Hodgetts

Family caregivers can experience grief and loss across a person's journey in residential aged care through entry, adjustment, health deterioration, and at eventual death.

Informed by a systematic review and a series of interviews with aged care staff and family caregivers, a Bereavement Booklet was developed to support the loss, grief and bereavement needs of family caregivers. This booklet has had a positive response and strong uptake by staff and families

The booklet provides information on what is likely to happen over time, and practical tips for along the way.

You can download or order the Bereavement booklet.

Order
Booklet here

When someone dies in residential aged care:
Grief and loss for families

Flinders University

Research Centre for
Palliative Care, Death & Dying

March 2023