

Purpose

The College of Health and Enablement has established Honours Scholarships to provide financial assistance to undergraduate students undertaking an Honours research project in the College of Health and Enablement, Flinders University. The purpose of the scholarships is to build Honours engagement and research across all disciplines in the College.

Source of Funds

The scholarships are funded by the College of Health and Enablement.

Benefits

Subject to the availability of funds, there will be six annual scholarships up to the value of $1250 each. Usually, no more than two scholarships will be available per Honours program within the College.

Eligibility

Applicants must:

- have commenced or are commencing the Bachelor of Health Sciences (Honours), or the honours program of either the Bachelor of Nutrition and Dietetics or the Bachelor of Speech Pathology, in the year of the award; and
- have, as their principal supervisor, a staff member of, or a holder of full academic status in, the College of Health and Enablement; and
- not be a current Flinders University academic staff member.

Selection

The scholarships will be awarded based on academic merit. Results achieved for the most recent 36 units of study at third year level will take precedence, over other factors. If necessary, grades for individual topics may be used to rank students with identical GPAs. Selection will be made by a Selection Committee comprising the Honours Coordinators of the College of Health and Enablement and the Dean (Education) or delegate.

Tenure

The scholarship is available for the normal duration of the relevant Honours program (one year full-time or two years part-time or 6 months for embedded programs).

Applications

Applications should be submitted online through the Flinders University Student System by the closing date.
