FNST0100: Foundation Studies Program

Your study schedule will be divided into:

- contact hours (attendance at these times is a requirement)
- self-paced learning activities (activities that must be done before or after scheduled classes)
- independent study (working on assessment tasks)

You should assume the total time commitment to be approximately 36 hours per week (approximately 18 hours per week for the Flinders University location).

The program will focus on developing your:

- study skills and understanding of university life
- digital literacy and reading skills
- academic communication skills
- critical thinking and analytical skills
