Real-world experience

Flinders University Work Integrated Learning (WIL) partner Micro X designs, develops and manufactures a range of innovative, ultra-lightweight, mobile x-ray imaging systems for medical and security applications.

Micro-X has been involved in the WIL program since early 2018. Systems Engineer Lead Chris Delnooz believes the benefits of Flinders’ unique, 20-week WIL program are substantial to both the company and the students taking part.

“We have always employed new graduates; however, the WIL program allows us to assess the students’ skills before hiring them. This makes for an ideal recruitment process, where both Micro-X and the student have a good idea what they are committing to when it comes to employment. Generally, we find interesting projects that a student can take on and own from beginning to end. Students have been able to design and build prototype rigs for CT imaging and perform data collection, algorithm development, software development and electronics design.

Micro-X considers people our most important asset. We are committed to the development of the next generation of scientists and engineers that will contribute to our culture of innovation and pushing the limits of technology. Providing opportunities for WIL placements is part of that commitment. In addition, we have been able to retain the majority of our placement students as full-time employees after they completed their degree.”

Flinders offers two admissions cycles each year for undergraduate degrees.
Admission pathway
Any one of the options available to a prospective higher education student that will enable them to meet the entry requirements of their chosen courses.

ATAR
The Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) is a ranking from 30 (lowest) to 99.95 (highest) agreed by COAG as a nationally equivalent measure of a person's relative academic ranking within their complete age cohort in the year they graduated from senior secondary school.

Adjustment factors
Often referred to previously as 'bonus points', these are additional points that may be used in combination with an applicant's ATAR to derive a person's course selection rank.

Defer
Delaying the start of a course of study by one year (commencing students only). If you have already enrolled, then you need to withdraw from topics before you can defer.

Guaranteed entry selection rank
Achieve a selection rank equal to or above the published guaranteed entry selection rank and you'll be guaranteed a place at Flinders.

Major
A sequence of topics required to be taken as defined in your course rule, normally across all years of a course.

Minor
A sequence of topics required to be taken as defined in your course rule, generally as part of a major.

Offer round/s
Refers to the series of dates on which offers of higher education places are issued to applicants throughout the year, whether through a tertiary admission centre or directly by a higher education provider.

Selection rank
The ranking that tertiary admission centres and most universities actually use to assess admission to a course. A person's course selection rank can include their ATAR, any adjustments they are eligible for, such as equity or subject adjustments, other contributions calculated on the basis of work experience or previous non-secondary study, portfolio assessments, results of the Special Tertiary Admissions Test, other supplementary tests, etc.
