The University's support system has been great. There are lots of activities that I can be a part of and meet new friends from other countries. I now have friends from all over the world! I've gone to multicultural dinners, joined discussion groups on cultural beliefs, taken up free yoga classes, and even gone to public speaking workshops. I've also joined a mentoring program which has paired me up with a PhD student who helps me a lot and provides great guidance for my studies.
