

Doctoral Students Supervised – Iain HAY

1. Debra Dickinson. 2018, PhD. Ecological sustainability education in a neoliberal context: negotiating and managing the paradox. (Associate supervisor).
2. Nicole Anderson. 2018, PhD. Linking in situ and ex situ management: Exploring vaccine immunogenicity and capture stress in the African Painted Dog (Lycaon pictus) (Principal supervisor).
3. Paul Johnson. PhD. 2015, Grounds for Learning: schoolyard activities as provocations and scaffolds for childhood learning. (Principal supervisor)
4. Irene Matakana-Sahertian. 2012, PhD. Solid waste management in Ambon: breaking down after the Ambon riots. (Principal supervisor) Dr Sahertian received the Royal Geographical Society's John Lewis Silver Medal (2014) for her thesis.
5. Edoardo Rosso. 2011, PhD. The role of social capital in the development of South Australian elite women's soccer. (Co-supervisor) Dr Rosso received the Royal Geographical Society's John Lewis Silver Medal (2011) for his thesis. The thesis was subsequently revised and published in 2014 as Taking the Next Step. Social Capital and Athlete Development by Common Ground (Champaign, Illinois) as part of their Sport and Society series.
6. Gavin Malone. 2012, PhD. Phases of Aboriginal Inclusion in the Public Space in Adelaide, South Australia, since Colonisation. PhD (Principal supervisor) Dr Malone won the Institute of Australian Geographers' Postgraduate Award in 2008.
7. Azizan Marzuki. 2009, PhD. Public participation in tourism planning: the case of the Langkawi Islands, Malaysia. (Principal co-supervisor).
8. Eleanor Button. 2009, PhD. Gambling and pathways into homelessness. (Co-supervisor)
9. Noel Richards. 2008, PhD. Prescribed burning in peri-urban Australia: How and why is the decision to burn made? (Principal co-supervisor) Dr Richards received the Royal Geographical Society's John Lewis Silver Medal (2009) for his thesis.
10. Thomas Jenkin. 2008, PhD. Reconciliation and settler spaces, from colonization to co-existence? Transitions in 'land' management in Lake Eyre Basin, South Australia. (Principal supervisor)
11. Charlotte Morgan. 2006, PhD. Revealing patterns of campylobacter infection in South Australia: a space-time analysis (Principal supervisor).
12. Michiyo Yoshida. 2002, PhD. Citizenship and migrant resettlement: case studies from Vietnamese women in Australia and Japan, (Co-supervisor). Dr Yoshida received the Royal Geographical Society's John Lewis Silver Medal (2003) for her thesis.
13. Donna Ferretti. 2002, PhD. From rational planning to risky business: notions of ecological sustainability in planning discourse, (Co-supervisor).