PhD Completions

Samantha Angelakis completed her PhD titled: Comorbid Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and Major Depressive Disorder: The usefulness of a combined treatment approach. Sam was supervised by Reg Nixon.

Anne O’shea completed her PhD titled: An investigation of the model of clinical perfectionism as a transdiagnostic process in theory and treatment. Anne was supervised by Tracey Wade.

Postdoctoral Appointments

Dr Caitlin Hitchcock (who completed her clinical PhD early this year) has landed a postdoctoral position as Investigator Scientist working with Prof Tim Dalgleish at the Cognition and Brain Sciences Unit which is associated with Cambridge University and funded by the Medical Research Council in UK. She will start that role in July-August this year. She is the second of our clinical PhDs to get a position in this prestigious unit (Dr Anna McKinnon being the first).

Conference Presentations

Student Publications

Please send information for May’s newsletter by the end of the month to Karen Yardley. Thank you.